

Resilience Self-Assessment

Resilience is the ability bounce back from difficulty, to navigate challenges with awareness, intention, and skill. Resilience develops naturally through connections to others, balanced self-care, and an open and engaged mind.

Assessing Your View of Your Resilience

Score	Assessment
36 or higher	You are likely to view yourself as resilient, and if your view is accurate, you are likely to thrive in the face of challenges and could serve as a strong support and role-model for others.
27 – 35	You are likely to view yourself as having typical resilience, and you will likely do fine with most challenges. Unless you are selling yourself short on your assessment, you have some room for enhancing your resilience.
26 or lower	You are likely to view yourself as not very resilient. You have ample room for enhancing your resilience. Lower scores are common among people who have had few challenges early in life or have been overwhelmed by challenges early in life. History is not destiny.
